

heraldscotland.com

SPT warns against station closures

Wednesday 8 February 2012

- Text size
-
-

Transport Correspondent

A TRANSPORT body has called for explicit assurances that no train stations will be closed as part of a Government review of Scotland's rail network.

Custom byline text:

DAMIEN HENDERSON Transport Correspondent

Strathclyde Partnership for Transport said it was "extremely concerned" about the prospect of stations being shut in the west of Scotland after the Rail 2014 consultation was launched last November.

And, despite being told there are no "current plans" to close any stations, it has called for a presumption against closure "except in the most extreme cases" to be built into Government policies.

Original URL:

<http://www.heraldscotland.com/news/transport/spt-warns-against-station-closures.16693264>