

Click here to print

Is this foul-mouthed, self-obsessed Twitter teen really the future of British policing? Youth crime tsar's sex and drug rants

- Paris Brown, 17, boasted about her sex life, drug taking and drinking
- In one Tweet she wrote: 'I really wanna make a batch of hash brownies'
- And she also said: 'Everyone on Made in Chelsea looks like a f fag'
- Appointed to change perceptions of young people
- Keith Vaz MP says she must be removed from her £15,000 post immediately

By Russell Myers

PUBLISHED: 22:44, 6 April 2013 | UPDATED: 14:39, 7 April 2013

The un-PC police commissioner: Paris Brown, 17, posted foul-mouthed rants boasting about her sex life, drug taking and drinking binges

Britain's first youth police commissioner was facing urgent calls to quit last night after she tweeted a torrent of foul-mouthed rants boasting about her sex life, drug taking and drinking binges.

Paris Brown, 17, also posted violent, racist and anti-gay comments.

She was appointed last week to the £15,000 taxpayer-funded post to represent young people's views on policing.

But politicians last night insisted that her position was untenable after her disgusting outbursts were revealed by The Mail On Sunday.

In one she appears to condone drug-taking, revealing: 'I really wanna make a batch of hash brownies.' Elsewhere she complains: 'Worst part about being single is coming from a party/night out horny as f and having to sleep alone.'

Another says: 'Been drinking since half 1 and riding baby walkers down the hall at work oh my god i have the best job ever haha!!' And in one vile message, she says: 'i want to f cut everyone around me.' Elsewhere she rails against gays as 'fags', immigrants as 'illegals' and travellers as 'pikeys', while admitting she has 'a thing for older men' – an apparent reference to a teacher at her former school.

Just two months ago, Miss Brown wrote: 'F hell why are the people from Direct Pizza so difficult to talk too!! IT IS CALLED ENGLISH. LEARN IT.'

And she attacked the male actors in the reality show Made In Chelsea, writing: 'Everyone on Made in Chelsea looks like a f fag.'

In the months leading up to her appointment she repeatedly demonstrated her apparent disdain for the law and propensity to anti-social behaviour.

Just three weeks ago she appeared to support an apparent assault, saying: 'I don't condone violence but im so pleased that my brother thumped the fat little ****.'

Describing herself in one tweet, she said: 'im either really fun, friendly and inclusive when im drunk or im an anti social, racist, sexist, embarrassing a often its the latter.'

And in another she boasted: 'am getting so drunk this saturday, so so painfully oh so unattractively drunk.' The comments come from a personal Twitter account, Paris @vilulabelle, where she had posted or circulated more than 4,000 messages and images, many of them offensive.

PARIS BROWN – IN HER OWN (HEAVILY CENSORED) WORDS

Paris @vilulabelle

@_raepreston thank you!! & Im the first youth commissioner in the country so the medias getting excited haha

View conversation

ON DRUGS...

Paris @vilulabelle

I like your top mate.

pic.twitter.com/8ZKGvWIn

Reply Retweet Favorite

CRASS: Her praise for a man's shirt decorated with cannabis leaves

Paris @vilulabelle

im on so many prescribed pills atm its beautiful, i feel so chilled and relaxed and so so lightheaded

ON DRINK...

Paris @vilulabelle

Im either really fun, friendly and inclusive when Im drunk or Im an anti social, racist, sexist, embarrassing [REDACTED]. often its the latter

Paris @vilulabelle

I am getting so drunk this saturday, so so painfully oh so unattractively drunk.

© JIM BENNETT

Outbursts: Paris Brown (left) has apologised for 'inappropriate language and views' on her Twitter feed while police commissioner Ann Barnes (right) has defended her. The pair are pictured after Miss Brown was appointed to the role Yet only days ago Miss Brown pledged in a series of television interviews to change perceptions of young people who, she insisted, were mostly 'lovely'.

Miss Brown's comments represent a further blow to police credibility, which was undermined last week by The Mail on Sunday's disclosures about WPC Kelly Jones, who sued a burglary victim after tripping over a kerb at his petrol station.

Miss Brown was hired to cover Kent and was interviewed by the county's assistant chief constable. It was hoped the appointment would be a blueprint for the rest of the country. But that plan lay in tatters last night.

Miss Brown reports to Ann Barnes, 67, who was elected to the £85,000 role of Kent Police and Crime Commissioner last year. PCCs were elected in 41 police forces in England and Wales in November and each one has control over the budget and policing priorities in their area.

Keith Vaz, chairman of the Commons Home Affairs Select committee, said: 'I am deeply shocked by these disclosures.'

This individual must be removed from their post immediately. Public money should never be given to anyone who refers to violence, sex, drunkenness and other anti-social behaviour in this offensive manner. The Government must now reconsider its point blank refusal to publish a national list of all the appointments made by Crime Commissioners – as requested by my committee.

'The public has a right to know who they are, how they were appointed and their full backgrounds. That is the best way to stop irresponsible and unsuitable people being taken on.'

ON SEX...

Paris @vilulabelle

Right either there are Owls outside my house or my neighbours dont know how to [REDACTED] quietly

Paris @vilulabelle

Worst part about being single is coming home from a party/ night out horny as [REDACTED] and having to sleep alone. BAD TIMES

ON VIOLENCE...

Paris @vilulabelle

I don't condone violence but im so pleased that my brother thumped the fat little [REDACTED] that gave his tiny little friend a black eye

ON GAY RIGHTS...

Paris @vilulabelle

faggots played knock dwn ginger @ my house 3 times. 3rd time i hid behind the door & opened it right as the [REDACTED] went 2 run, HA na u [REDACTED]

Paris @vilulabelle

Everyone on Made in Chelsea looks like a [REDACTED] fag

However Mrs Barnes defended her young adviser, and insisted that she should remain in her post.

'You cannot condone any offensive tweets and I certainly would not accept anything like that now that Paris has been appointed but I wanted somebody for this job who was a typical teenager,' she said.

She added: 'There is no way I would think of removing her from her post and I am sure Paris will learn from this mistake and be able to move forward to making a success of the role like I know she will.' Miss Brown, who is not old enough to vote or legally purchase alcohol, was chosen from 164 hopefuls who applied for the position that was advertised in February this year.

She was encouraged to apply for the role by bosses at Swale Borough Council in Kent, where she earns £2.65 an hour in a full-time apprenticeship role as an office junior.

The final part of the selection process involved an interview with Mrs Barnes and Lee Russell, the Chief Inspector of Kent Police.

Role: Miss Brown was hired to cover Kent and was interviewed by the county's assistant chief constable

After being appointed, Miss Brown who lives at her family's £250,000 home in Sheerness, on the Isle of Sheppey, with her mother Debra, 48, father Dennis, 51 and three brothers, Ross, 23, Miles, 20 and ten-year-old Mason, said the job would help her be the 'messenger' for young people.

Miss Brown claimed that she chose to put on hold plans to do A-levels to take up the year-long post.

However in another posting she told of her intention to work as a holiday rep on the Greek island of Kavos or the Spanish island of Ibiza, both renowned for their hedonistic, party atmosphere.

Creating a youth police and crime commissioner role was a manifesto pledge of Mrs Barnes, who said: 'Young people don't have much of a voice in policing in Kent and I'm determined to change that.'

'Paris is going to be the young face of policing in the county and I'm quite sure she is going to do a brilliant job at helping the police to connect with young people.'

'She's very exceptional. She has a real commitment to working with young people. She's confident and she's got bags of energy.'

But Miss Brown appeared to be aware that her personal tweets could be damaging to her professional reputation.

Her comments and Twitter account were deleted yesterday, after the Mail on Sunday contacted her.

And last week she started an official @YouthPCC Twitter account and a new personal account, @parisbrown, explaining to friends that the accounts would be used 'for work'. Last night Miss Brown told The Mail on Sunday: 'When I tweet I do often exaggerate and, to clarify, I am not racist or sexist but I'm not going to lie – I have been guilty of showing off in the past.'

'When I sit indoors with my mum I will have a small glass of wine every now and again but I'm not an alcoholic.

ON RACE RELATIONS...

Paris @vilulabelle
i can speak [REDACTED] english its the illegals on the other end that cant

Paris @vilulabelle
OH MY GOD WILL YOU PIKEYS STOP NICKING THE [REDACTED] TRAIN
TRACK METAL im on a [REDACTED] replacement bus, [REDACTED] stupid moronic [REDACTED]

BUT THERE IS SOME HOPE...

Paris @vilulabelle
I need to start being a little more ladylike. I feel awkward about literally nothing and do myself no favours because of it

'You are allowed to drink at home. At a family meal or maybe at Christmas I will have a glass of wine or maybe a Malibu and lemonade but I don't have a drinking problem, I don't condone drinking to excess.'

'I have never taken drugs and I don't condone anyone taking drugs. The tweet I wrote about making hash brownies is actually a line from a Scooby Doo film and not something I would ever do.'

Mrs Barnes added: 'Paris may have in the past been stupid and made some spur of the moment comments which I certainly do not condone but she has matured quickly into a very confident and mature young woman.'

'I am sure she will be ashamed of these comments but I would bet you that any parent who accessed a Twitter or Facebook account would be surprised and perhaps shocked at some of the stuff that's on it because that's what kids do.'

'They like to impress their mates and I imagine Paris has been found guilty of boasting in many of these messages.'

MOST READ NEWS

- Previous
- 1
- 2
- 3
- Next

'Why didn't they cut me off?' Lonely man runs up £91,184

Forget about the vajazzle, it's time for the vajacial:

Is this foul-mouthed, self-obsessed Twitter teen really the...

'Quit your job, buy a ticket, fall in love... never return!'

46st Georgia who was Britain's fattest teenager 'fighting...

British housewife Lindsay Sandiford will be executed for...

'I am very ashamed of myself': Foul-mouthed new crime tsar,...

'We're caught in a trap': Mick Philpott pictured singing...

Last-minute rush to avoid tough new test for disability...

- Man gets shock of his life when he buys two toy poodles for...

- Would you take a 100 mph dive on the washing line of terror?

- What an insult to Christians! After crucifixes are allowed...

Comments (638)

- Newest
- Oldest
- Best rated
- Worst rated

View all

Sorry, are the adult ones any better? Ann Barnes??!!

- Amparelli , London, 07/4/2013 10:07

Click to rate .. Rating 1117

Report abuse

Check out their family trees, there may be something there that explains why she was hired and not fired.

- John , Durham, 07/4/2013 10:07

Click to rate .. Rating 2267

Report abuse

Well, that went well, didn't it? I cannot believe she's not going to lose her 'job'. In the real world, she would have been fired immediately. What lessons are actually being taught here?

- helen , London, 07/4/2013 10:04

Click to rate .. Rating 2672

Report abuse

is this the future of our country? Letting someone who expresses her self in such an immoral way to represent our youth who are our country's future. God help us all!!

- dandy , Scarboro Uk, 07/4/2013 10:04

Click to rate .. Rating 2208

Report abuse

Great!! a typical example of modern GB.

- inkstar , London, 07/4/2013 10:04

Click to rate .. Rating 1703

Report abuse

I'm not happy for my tax money to pay for this idiot!

- poppertje , greater Manchester, 07/4/2013 10:04

Click to rate .. Rating 2973

Report abuse

so wait a minute if she was only appointed last week cant they just let her go anything rather than asking this not so polite girl to resign thats what probationary periods are for ,so that when objects like this show there true colours they can be shown the door makes a mockery of all the decent kids they could have given the job to

- Kay , Midlands, 07/4/2013 10:01

Click to rate .. Rating 1524

Report abuse

what in the name of God is going on with her eyebrows? O-o

- born in the USA , Somewhere, 07/4/2013 10:00

Click to rate .. Rating 1717

Report abuse

Surely this shows a complete lack of judgement of Mrs Barnes - if she thinks this foul-mouthed idiot is mature then God help us!

- Chriskin54 , Norwich, 07/4/2013 10:00

Click to rate .. Rating 1712

Report abuse

So shes not just stupid. She is publicly stupid. She should fit right in then.

- someguy , somewhere, 07/4/2013 10:00

Click to rate .. Rating 1564

Report abuse

The views expressed in the contents above are those of our users and do not necessarily reflect the views of MailOnline.

Find this story at www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2305118/Paris-Brown-Is-foul-mouthed-self-obsessed-Twitter-teen-really-future-British-policing.html

Published by Associated Newspapers Ltd

Part of the Daily Mail, The Mail on Sunday & Metro Media Group

